You are about to acquire a product that is not easy and can be difficult to understand.
What kind of product is it?
Type	This insurance-based investment product is a unit-linked life insurance policy under Icelandic law.
Term	The recommended holding period for this product corresponds to the period up to the age of 67. In this sample case, the recommended holding period is 20 years. The product expires on the anniversary of the start date after reaching the age of 100. We can unilaterally terminate the contract if the policyholder or the insured person has violated the pre-contractual duty of notification. Further information can be found in the "Important information for answering the application questions". An unfavorable price development of the investment funds can lead to fund balance being used up. In this case, the contract ends
Objectives	Specific information to the individual funds can be found at https://www.squarelife.eu/funds/ . With the Squarelife Invest Policy, social, ethical and environmental criteria are taken into account in the selection of investment funds. The benefits include benefits according to the units of shares of the investment funds. The benefits according to the units of the investment funds are not guaranteed. You do not participate in the surpluses of Squarelife Insurance AG.
Retail investor group	The product is suitable for customers who want to build up retirement capital for their retirement provision over a longer period. Significant fluctuations during the contract, which can arise from the use of investment funds, are accepted by the customer. There is a risk of loss of the contributions paid. The higher the risk class of the underlying investment funds, the higher this risk is. Further information on the type of investor can be found below in the section "What are the risks and what could I get in return? "During the course of the contract, the customer deliberately waives guarantees on the amount of capital.
Insurance benefits and costs	The insurance benefit consists of an expiry benefit which depends strongly on the future development of the selected investment funds and the amount of which can therefore not be guaranteed. At the end of the contract, you will receive a payout of the accumulated contract credit. In the event of the death of the insured person before the expiry of the contract, the benefit agreed for the respective insurance year is paid out. The value of these benefits is shown in the section "What are the risks and what could I get in return?" is shown. The calculations in this key information document are based on one 47 -year-old insured person and 20 annual investments of 1,000 EUR each. In this model case, the average annual insurance premium for insurance cover is 3.41 EUR - 6.05 EUR. The average annual insurance premium is 0.34% - 0.61% of the total annual investment. This leaves 993.95 EUR - 996.59 EUR per year of the entire annual investment. The impact of the insurance premium on the investment return at the end of the recommended holding period amounts to 0.03% - 0.03% per year. The insurance premium is included in the table "Composition of costs" under "Management fees and other administrative or operating costs". The effect of the premium part corresponding to the estimated value of the insurance benefits is included herein.

What are the risks and what could I get in return?
Risk indicator	Risk and return of the investment vary depending on the underlying investment option. The performance of the entire product depends strongly on the performance of the investment funds included in the selected strategy. Price changes directly change the value of the insurance contract. Specific information on each underlying investment option can be found in the document "Investment concepts and fund list" and under https://www.squarelife.eu/funds/ .

This risk indicator assumes that you will last the product for 20 years. If you liquidate the investment early, the actual risk may differ significantly, and you may get less in return.

The overall risk indicator helps you assess the risk associated with this product compared to other products. It shows how likely it is that you will lose money on this product because the markets are developing in a certain way, or we are unable to pay you.
We have classified this product on a scale of 1 to 7 in risk classes 2 to 7, with 2 corresponding to the lowest and 7 to a high-risk class.
The risk of potential losses from future performance is classified as very low to high. But even in adverse market conditions, it is extremely unlikely that our ability to pay you out will be affected.
This product does not protect against future market developments, so you could lose all or part of the invested capital.
Performance Scenarios
The figures include all the costs of the product itself, but may not include all the costs you have to pay to your advisor or distributor. It also does not take into account your personal tax situation, which may also affect the final premium you receive. What you end up getting out of this product depends on future market development. Future market developments are uncertain and cannot be predicted with certainty.
What happens if Squarelife Insurance AG is unable to make the withdrawal?
In Liechtenstein, there is no guarantee fund to cover life insurance claims.
What are the costs?
The person who sells or advises you about this product may charge you additional costs. If this is the case, this person will communicate these costs to you and explain how these costs will affect your investment.
The costs of the investment vary depending on the underlying investment option. Further information and notes on the costs can be found in the specific information on the investment options of this insurance investment product at https://www.squarelife.eu/funds/ .
Costs over time The tables show premiums that are taken from your policy to cover various types of costs.
